

Junior Cub R4 Report

For the first time in a while the Junior Club drivers had a dry track to do battle on as we began the fourth round of this five round series.

The star of the Silverstone class was Jayden Neal-Holder who, thanks to three heat victories, managed to come first in his class. However, it was not easy for Jayden, he was matched nearly all the way through the morning by Max Lee, who finished just one point behind Jayden at the end of the morning. Felix King was third in the Silverstone class thanks to two heat wins.

Tom Ovenden was yet again the front runner in the Monza Class but it was not as easy a win as it had been in previous weeks. Tom's results were mirrored almost exactly by Oscar Gregory-McGowan and despite Oscar finishing about Tom in their last couple of heats, Tom managed to win the class by just one point. Kieran Ives made an impressive Junior Club debut, finishing third overall, just a couple of points off the top spot. Charlie Hall can consider himself unlucky, just two points behind third place at the end of the meeting.
