

Junior Club R2 Report

Slippery conditions gave members of the Bayford Junior Club a difficult test on Saturday. Drivers were looking to build on their points totals from the first round in the short Junior Club Winter series.

The Monza class was yet again dominated by Tom Ovenden, who took three heat wins ensuring he was top in his class by a distance. Zak Brunning was second, just four points ahead of Matthew Hickson. Charlie Hall was agonisingly close to getting on the podium, just one point away from third place. This result mirrored last month's final standings exactly, Brunning, Hickson and Hall will no doubt want to change this next month, while Ovenden will be hoping the status quo remains.

George Oxford was the star of the Silverstone class building on his second place at the last round to win in style this time round. Jayden Neal-Holder was second, just one point ahead of Jai Lawrence. Rory Burke and Max Lee were joint fourth. This leaves George and Jayden both sitting at the top of the championship, having acquired the same amount of points in the two rounds so far. Jai is not far off, thanks to two third place finishes.

With both championships proving to be very close, the next round will be as important as ever with every point being of great importance.
